INFORMATION ABOUT HEPATITIS A AND WAIVER FORM

Hepatitis A is a viral infection of the liver that is usually spread by close contact and sometimes eating food or drinking water containing the virus. Hepatitis A vaccine can prevent hepatitis A. The vaccination consists of 2 injections given 6 to 12 months apart.

There have been no known occurrences of hepatitis A or other serious diseases contracted by students while at Saints Bible Institute. Students are encouraged to consult their physician or other qualified sources for more information about these and related health issues on college campuses.

Incoming students must either be immunized against hepatitis A or submit a waiver.

WAIVER

I have read the above information about the risks of hepatitis A and the benefits of immunization. I hereby attest that I am declining immunization at this time.
